Surveyed Environmental Pollutants
Weitchpec Area

This map shows over 200 environmental pollution reports that pose a threat to the health and the environment. Environmental pollution data was gathered by YTEP staff through extensive archival research, interviews with tribal members, and consultation with numerous Federal, State, and County agencies. This initial data was then ground-truthed by YTEP staff by conducting field surveys to validate reported potential environmental pollution sites. This data was then included in Environmental Threat Assessment Project (ETAP) electronic database. Reported pollution sites included illegal dump sites, uses, owners, and anything else the public perceived as a threat to health and the environment.
